

Dear Families ,

May continues to deliver to us a wide range of weather I am very the sun will come out to stay at some point this summer. Life in school continues as usual with the children enjoying their learning. What has been different in recent weeks is that I have been involved in providing interim leadership support in a local school. Some of you have noticed that I haven't been around quite as much as usual but I have been able to stay in good contact with the team here at Sutton thanks to the wonders of the internet and also regular keeping in touch days at Sutton. It is a huge testament to the staff at Sutton that our school is able to largely continue without me! The support is coming to an end now and I am looking forward to being back at Sutton full time. My thanks as ever to the team at Sutton, who have in effect enabled the support of another school.

Our first use of School Cloud, as a platform for Parents Consultations, seems to have gone well. There were a couple of glitches, apologies if these have affected you, but on the whole it has been very successful. Next week Teachers will be meeting with the parents of children who have an EHCP or who are on Tier 1 of our SEND register.

One exciting thing happening this term is our work with South Craven. We are delighted to have Ruth Seaman, an art teacher from South Craven, currently working with our Year 5 class once a week this half term. She has been helping them develop some really effective skills as you can see here:

As part of our work with the Trailblazer mental health team we would like to ask parents about their children's mental health and any ways in which we can support parents in areas of concern. A few weeks ago children completed their own survey and it has been really useful in helping us focus on the things that are most important for them at this moment in time. We are hoping that the parental survey will do the same. It is only a short survey and should only take a few minutes to complete. Please look out for it in your email inbox early next week; the more replies we get the more we can tailor our provision to your children's needs.

We await the news around restrictions lifting further in June but hope that, as things are lifted, many of our planned activities might be able to be able to go ahead

Have a lovely weekend

Our Favourite Tweet!

The family of fluffy chicks who have hatched out under the care and love everyone in YR leave us today. To watch the awe and wonder of our littlest learners as the eggs stared to wobble and then hatch into small tweeting bundles of feathers has been lovely. We thought the carefully penned instruction below might impress you! (translation at the bottom of the page)

(No tapping on the glass, no shouting because the chicks won't hatch)
